

Boat Captain

Conan Henderson-Dott

Conan grew up sailing in the Scottish Borders, first learning to sail on inland reservoirs at school before progressing into a professional yachting career. Holding an MCA Master 200 qualification, Conan has spent the past 10 years working aboard a range of performance sailing yachts and superyachts, including Wallys, J-Class yachts and a 56m ketch. He is known as a steady-handed, analytical and hardworking captain with strong sailing and engineering experience.

Outside of yachting, Conan enjoys climbing, following the Tour de France and travelling.

Deckhand

Manon Christmann

Manon grew up in Germany and France, discovering the ocean through travel before finding her calling in yachting. Starting as a deck/stew on motor yachts, she quickly moved into sailing, developing a passion for life under canvas and the teamwork that comes with it.

Having worked on both charter motor yachts and sailing yachts, Manon has already completed an Atlantic crossing - including an unforgettable encounter with a whale off the Azores. Cheerful, calm and hard-working, she thrives on learning new skills on deck and being part of a close-knit crew.
